

9th McGill International Cellphilm Festival

Mark your calendars and transform your cellphones to create your submissions for the upcoming 9th McGill International Cellphilm Festival!

This year's festival will center on the theme of Transformation. Transformation has been a pivotal force shaping human experience throughout history as our world has undergone unique and influential transformations across the fields of education, health, art, technology, and beyond. Around the globe, we have learned to adapt individually and collectively to our circumstances, as well as pilot transformations of our own, bringing new perspectives and ways of living to our loved ones and wider communities. Transformation: What does it mean to you and in your circumstances whether it is school, community, environment or everyday life? Here is your opportunity to share your original transformation story with others!

We invite you to send in your submissions by May 24, 2021 and join us to celebrate our awardees on June 10, 2021!
